

Non-exemplar Response

Reread your response to the question, "How do animals rely on their brothers and sisters for survival?" Revise your response to include a compound sentence.

Animal siblings practice hunting together!

Peregrine falcons pretend to be predators and prey. They learn to be fast hunters.

|                                                                    |                                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| Peregrine falcons pretend to be predators and prey . | They learn to be fast hunters. |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|

|     |     |    |   |
|-----|-----|----|---|
| and | but | so | , |
|-----|-----|----|---|