

Non-exemplar Response

Why is fry bread important to Native American families? Give a reason.

Fry bread is important to Native American families because it is something families teach each other to make.