

Performance Task Writing Prompt

Your English class has just finished reading the texts for Unit 1. In this unit, you and your classmates explored the concept of personal and social identity while reading a collection of poems, spoken word, short stories, nonfiction, and a TED Talk. To conclude this unit, you will write an informative essay in which you reflect how the texts from the unit served as a mirror, reflecting back something about your own personal identity, and/or a window offering insight into an unfamiliar experience that, in turn, revealed something about your identity, leading you to a deeper understanding of the first essential question of the unit, "Who are you?"
