Revision Text 1

Ring, ring! Here comes my bicycle library! First, I stock the library. I fill the basket on my bike with books. I pedal along with a great, big smile. Next, I stop at the park. It begins to rain! Last, I call over the kids. The kids run to borrow new books. The kids zip the books in their bags so they do not get wet.

Revision Text 2

Have you ever seen a library on a hot air balloon? First, I add books to the hot air balloon basket to share with kids around town. Then, I soar up high in the air in the hot air balloon. I look down and my body starts to shake. The hot air balloon is too high in the air! Finally, I land the hot air balloon. The kids jump with joy for new books to read!
