

Two Paragraph Outline

Opinion Statement: Greek myths should stay in the curriculum.

Paragraph 1

Topic Sentence: One lesson that several Greek myths teach kids is to not be too conceited or self-centered.

- Detail: harms relationships → Echo and Narcissus
- Detail: arrogance about abilities → Arachne
- Detail: kind + thoughtful → easier to make friends

Paragraph 2

Topic Sentence: Greek myths also teach that something good can come from a bad situation.

- Detail: kids see bad things every day → feels terrible
- Detail: Pandora's Box → good things can still happen
- Detail: stay hopeful → make world better

Conclusion: Even though Greek myths are thousands of years old, they still teach lessons that matter today. Students should keep reading these stories because they can learn ideas that help them make good choices in life. Keep Greek myths in the curriculum!